Edible Salt

Himalayan Edible Salt or Gourmet Salt Packing 500 g, 1 kg, 25 kg, 50 kg, 1M.ton jumbo Bags

Himalayan edible/gourmet salt is the food grade variety of himalayan pink salt. Himalayan edible/gourmet salt is unprocessed and retains all its nutrient value. The salt is a healthier alternative to table salt and helps to regulate blood sugar and control blood pressure.

Crystal Granule Dark Pink Salt

Packing 500 g, 1kg, 25 kg, 50 kg, 1M.ton jumbo Bags

The crystal salt from Pakistan is one of the best-known and most popular natural salts worldwide. The natural salt owes its reddish colour to its iron oxide content. Mining takes place in a low mountain range in Pakistan, province of Punjab, about 200 kilometres southwest of the actual Himalayas. The region is one of the largest rock salt deposits in the world.

Running Pink Salt

Running Pink Salt

packing 500 g, 1 kg, 25 kg, 50 kg, 1M.ton jumbo Bags
One of the most well-known salts, Running Pink Salt, is a must-have in your kitchen. This is a mineral often referred to as a spice. Unlike spice that grows like a plant, Running Pink salt is a naturally occurring mineral from the salt pools of the Himalayan Mountains. Ancient sea beds endowed with this special salt formed during the Jurassic era 250 million years ago offering a fascinating view of the tiny crystals packed with minerals.

The Multiple Benefits Of Himalayan Salt Shot Glasses

Himalayan rock salt shot glasses are created from the salt harvested from widely stretched ancient salt ranges called khewra salt mines located in the North of Pakistan. The salt that is used to create these exotic Himalayan pink salt shot glasses are rich in mineral traces. These minerals are comprised of calcium, magnesium, and potassium, and many more that are a source of great wellbeing for our bodies. Drinking from the signature Himalayan pink salt shot glasses and sipping the lime strung tequila shot enriches the experience from ecstatic joy to a dose of minerals. Also Himalayan pink salt contains detoxifying properties that bring zestful spirit to further elating experience. Himalayan salt shot glasses have replaced the conventional shot glasses and now the shots are served in the pink salty modern Himalayan shot glasses.

DID YOU KNOW?

Benefits of the Himalayan Salt:

The medical advantages of Himalayan salt include:

- Supporting thyroid and adrenal capacity
- Helping in achieving hormonal balance
- Helping in achieving fast metabolism
- Contains 84 follow minerals essential for the body
- Helping in making enough amount of stomach acid

The reasons that explain the goodness of Himalayan salt and how this salt works around the human body.

1. Detoxifies:

Salt sole is the right way to detoxify your body. A teaspoon of this water early in the morning mixed in a glass of plain water is enough to get rid of all the harmful toxins, balance pH levels, boost energy and maintain hydration of the body. Science explains this as; Negative ions and trace minerals enter the body and suck out toxins from the cells which are then flushed out of the body.

2. Relaxes and Alleviates Stress:

This salt bath not only relaxes body muscles but also rejuvenates the lost energy. Himalayan bath salt is full of beneficial minerals. These minerals when absorbed in the human body through the bath soak play magic. They help to fight acne, lighten away scars and blemishes, help in healing the skin and make it smooth and glowing and relax tensed muscles. Next time when you plan a bath soak, replace Epsom salts with Himalayan salt and feel the difference.

3. Speleotherapy:

Speleotherapy is an alternative therapy which literally means a therapy that is carried out in caves. This therapy calls for people with respiratory diseases to breathe in the natural air of the salt caves. The temperature in these caves is stable, the air is free from all the airborne pollutants and air pressure is higher than the ground level. All these factors are added together to make ideal conditions for people suffering from respiratory issues. This treatment is completely free from the use of any medical treatment or drugs. Since it is not possible for everyone to access the salt mines and benefit from speleotherapy, salt inhalers and aerosols are readily available in the market. They work and benefit in an equivalent manner as salt caves.

4. Nasal Irrigation:

This therapy is used to treat sinus inflammation and clear out the sinus and nasal tract. The basic idea involves entering saline water through one nostril and flushing it out through the other. The saline water carries with it all the irritants and treats inflammation if any in the nasal tract. Since it clears out the tract of the irritants, so the body gets a chance to heal by itself. Studies show that nasal irrigation in children has alleviated the symptoms of nasal irritation and lessen the dependency upon medicated nasal sprays. This therapy can also be helpful in preventing common colds.

5. Air Purifier:

If you observe the air in your environment closely, you will understand the reason behind all the respiratory diseases you have been suffering from over the past many years. The air around us, particularly in busy cities, is full of pollutants. Himalayan salt lamps not only give your place a chic look but also help in purifying the air of all the impurities. These salt lamps attract moisture which brings with it all the pollutants present in the air. Due to the heat of the lamp, this moisture is evaporated which releases negative ions that neutralize the pollutants and toxins in the air
